THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION 50X1-HUM

1. The Central Radio Station (Comitetul de Radiodifuziune si de Radiodifuzare) is located at 60 Calea Popov (formerly General Berthelot), Bucharest. Political transmissions are made from this studio. Dramatic and musical transmissions are made from a studio on Calea Timisana.
2. A new transmitter station is under construction at Tancabesti which will replace the Baneasa transmitter station, whose equipment has been transferred to Iasi. The studios were formerly connected with the Baneasa transmitter by a relay station at Baneasa, but it is not known where the relay station to the Tancabesti transmitter will be located. The entire equipment was imported from the USSR and installed by the Techno Installations Cooperative, Calea Nicolae Filipesco, Bucharest,
3. At Tancabesti there is also a jamming station for broadcasts. Equipment for this station was also imported from the USSR and installed by the Techno Installations cooperative. Two technicians, a certain Mandelovici and Vasile Chelaru, employed by the cooperative, disappeared after the installations had been completed.
4. There are two monitoring stations for foreign broadcasts in Bucharest: one whose location is not known belongs to the army and is controlled by a certain Colonel Chimus at Stalin (Brasov) (this station has replaced the old station on Calea Popa Savu, Bucharest); and the other at Tiganesti belongs to the Ministerial Council.
5. Two curious mistakes have recently been made on Radio Bucharest: instead of "Le genial coryphee Stalin," the speaker said "Le genial pharisien Stalin" (the inspired Pharisee Stalin); and instead of saying "Partidul Muncitoresc Socialist German," the announcer said "Partidul National Socialist German" (German National-Socialist instead of Labor Socialist Party). Several arrests occurred after these errors.

6. The paper Vanatorul (The Hunter) gives military instruction to the members of the hunters' organization. This instruction aims to prepare hunters to act as Communist partisans in the mountains in case of necessity. The Party screens each individual recipient of this training.
7. The New Times is published in Bucharest in a number of languages. It sells for 15 lei, although net costs are 50 lei per copy.
